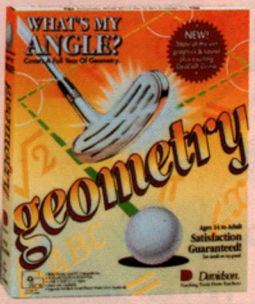
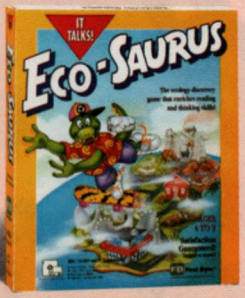
Davidson's New Product SPOTLIGHT

Uncover the true news stories and help put the Diabolical Daily out of business in Davidson's exciting new learning adventure game, Headline Harry and the Great Paper Race. You'll increase your knowledge of U.S. history and geography as you race against the clock to uncover news events spanning four decades of American history (1950-1990).

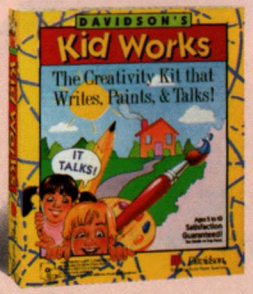


Get into the swing of learning geometry as you help our colorful cast of characters solve real-life geometry problems in What's My Angle? Five engaging activities cover a full year of geometry, including a geometry tutorial, an extensive collection of real-life geometry problems, practice with proofs, and the challenging GeoGolf miniature golf game.



Introduce children to basic reading, problem-solving and visual discrimination skills with Eco-Saurus, the new ecology discovery game from First Byte. This exploratory adventure is a perfect way to teach children about effective methods for improving the environment.

Earthquest, from Earthquest, Inc., is ready to take you on an adventurous discovery of the earth, its people and its environment. This interactive mini-encyclopedia covers more than 150 subjects that are brought to life through dozens of interactive challenges, graphics, animation, samples of languages and music, 43 maps, and a variety of charts and tables.



Davidson's Kid Works uniquely combines a word processor, paint program, and text-to-speech all in one! With the ability to convert text to icons and icons to text, children learn to express their thoughts both through pictures and in writing. Delightful sound effects and a fully equipped paint program provide children with endless hours of creative fun.
